
Academic Writing Course Descriptions

Academic Writing teaches the essential strategies for university writing and research: the discovery of topics, the arrangement of ideas, the assessment of audience and purpose, and the practice of effective editing. Sections of RHET-1101 are designed for students likely to major in a discipline in the

Academic Writing Course Descriptions

Academic Writing Course Descriptions
